PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

Product designer with expertise in AI, Web3, SaaS, and startup environments for digital products. With expertise in product strategy, interface design, design systems, and interaction design, I create intelligible, well-considered user experiences for complicated products. I work on end-to-end product design, from high-fidelity user interface and implementation support to information architecture and user flows. I have a significant advantage when it comes to designing for cutting-edge technology products, particularly Web3-native platforms and AI-powered tools.
